*Fair Market Value (FMV) is defined as the value of the goods or service at the time of the contribution. In regards to events or fundraisers, attendees may receive benefits while attending. These benefit are the FMV, which would be deducted from the donation credit. For example, if a ticket to a fundraiser costs $300 but the attendee is served a formal dinner that costs $60.00. To determine the total amount of the ticket that is tax-deductible (truly a gift), subtract the FMV of the dinner ($60) from the ticket price ($300). As a result, $240 of the $300 contribution would be considered tax-deductible.
